TAKING THE CROSS TO

Each year hundreds of thousands visit the tomb of Mohammed, the prophet of Islam. A Muslim once told a Christian, "When we Muslims go to Medina we can at least see a coffin. When you Christians go to Jerusalem, all you have is an empty grave." And the Christian responded, "Yes, but that's the whole point!"

The hope that is represented by that empty grave can be the hope for the Muslims as well. About 20 percent of the world's population, over one billion people, is Islamic. And the numbers are growing.

Muslims are a very devout, sincere, dedicated people. Their faith is built on the "Five Pillars of Islam," which include prayer five times a day and a pilgrimage to Mecca at least once in their lifetime. But even if they do all of this religiously, there is no guarantee they will enter heaven. In Islam, judgment is based on the arbitrary will of Allah, which nobody can predict.

Muslims believe that Allah can nullify his old statements with new ones, and that he is not bound by his revelations. One Muslim scholar said, "God is absolutely free and unrestricted, even in the realm of truth. He is free to abrogate the truth of earlier revelations by subsequently revealed truths. He is free to judge the same act as good in one circumstance, and evil in another according to the situation."

That explains a lot! The very god they serve changes his mind! This is totally different from how we understand God. We understand God to be consistent. We understand the Bible to be a perfect source of revelation, absolute and inerrant. We follow a savior, Jesus Christ, who is "the same yesterday, today and forever." And God Himself said, "For I am the Lord; I do not change" (Malachi 3:6).

For Muslims, the only exception to the arbitrary nature of Allah is that if they die in service to him, no matter whether they're good or bad, they are instantly admitted to paradise. That explains some of the violent events in the world. Yet, there are many stories of Muslims converting to Christ. In fact, 667 Muslims are converted to Christ every hour!

A rich Kuwaiti named Ibrahim was a very devout Muslim, but he had never experienced peace and had attempted suicide four times. On a trip he was suffering from insomnia, and a Gideon

THE CRESCENT MOON

Bible directed him to the verse that says “God gives his beloved sleep” (see Psalm 127). He said, “If you’re the God of this book, give me sleep.” That night, he slept like a baby. When he gave his heart to Jesus Christ his family rejected him, but years later his father told him, “I know of Jesus calling him to come out. As he did, his father’s house crumbled before his eyes. Soon after, he gave his life to Christ. He said, “I think the supernatural intervention of God was the cue to cause me to wake up.”

If you ever say, “He’ll never come to Christ,” you presume too much, and you believe too little.

These stories prove that no one, under any circumstances, is beyond the reach of the gospel! We must view each person as a salvation possibility. There are no restrictions on the power of the Holy Spirit. No matter what, God can break through.

your God is real because for 10 years all our plans to harm you have failed.”

Mustafa from Yemen was a radical Muslim who as a teenager had developed a real hatred for Christians. He burned down a Christian church in his village and stole from Christians, all under the banner of “jihad.” “I was filled with hatred for Christians,” he said. “Christians have no rights.” Later, God got hold of his life, and now he serves Christ.

In your mind, are there “impossible cases”? If you ever say, “He’ll never come to Christ,” you presume too much, and you believe too little. Saul of Tarsus was an “impossible case,” but God worked an incredible conversion. There’s not anyone, anywhere, in any circumstance, who is beyond the reach of God. Every person is a spiritual opportunity that may be disguised as an impossibility.

Daniel Shayesteh was part of the radical Islamic coup that took over Iran in 1979. He said, “When you read the Quran, it says that you must destroy other religions, Jews and Christians.” In a dream, he was in his father’s house, and heard the voice

God can work supernaturally, but He loves to use us. Even as He called Ananias to minister to Paul, God can use us. So take down the banners of “impossible” and “unreachable.” What opportunities lie ahead of us! FQ

by: Amanda Mayer

September 11, 2001:

Nineteen Al-Qaeda terrorists take control of four commercial passenger jet airliners. Between 8:46 and 10:03 a.m., New York City is shaken by the fall of the Twin Towers, the Pentagon receives a shocking blow to its west side, and Shanksville, PA becomes the crash site of a foiled attack, presumably on the U.S. Capitol or the White House. Al-Qaeda has reared its ugly face, and the Muslim world becomes the target of blame and social intolerance.

Prior to these attacks the Christian community paid little attention to Islam, mentioning it sparsely in sermons on cults and lost causes. But with the pain of 9/11, did we go from ignoring to hating the lost? Just as misconceptions are common with the Christian faith, so we all too often believe the “word on the street” about Islam. M88 covered this topic with an instructive interview between Yo Snyder, host of Raw Talk, and Ron Rhodes, author of “The 10 Things You Need To Know About Islam.” So what do we need to know about this religion? And will this knowledge better our understanding so that we might effectively and boldly share the mystery of the Gospel as we are called (Eph. 6:19-20)?

The greatest points made during the interview can be taken and applied to all situations when sharing your faith. There is a vital need to strengthen your personal faith, to intelligently dialogue and be informed, and to have the right mindset of love and respect in your approach. As Ron and Yo covered the “10 Things,” including areas of unity and diversity among Muslims, their quest for salvation, the nature of Allah, and even what Muslims believe about the Bible, heaven, and hell, we were given a lot to think about. In the end, an acceptance of Islam or an arrogant verbal war against a

1 Red returned this year to surpass the records set by their previous album End Of Silence with their new album Innocence & Instinct. Their new album was inspired by Dante's Inferno and a serious 2007 tour accident that resulted in their van crashing through a guardrail and sliding across the highway on its side. It's the first album to debut at number one on Christian rock charts.

2 The Red Airplanes formed in 2004, in and around Houston, Texas.

The band put out their first album in '05, their second in '07 and the latest album was released last year. (The band has purposely not given official titles to any of their albums.) They've been touring throughout Texas and the surrounding area.

3 Flynn Adam is one of the founding members of L.A. Symphony, and is also a successful producer and solo artist who's released three albums, Louder, Burnout, and In Like Flynn. In a move that's unheard-of in music, Flynn Adam plans to keep a continuous flow of new music coming, releasing three separate digital singles this year that will be bundled into in an EP.

4 I Am Terrified is a Birmingham-based quintet that after six years of constant performing recently released a 6-track self-titled EP. In addition to touring, I Am Terrified also has made videos for the songs "Heaven Knocking, Hell Rising" and "Falling on Everlasting."

5 Formed in 2003, And Then There Were None started as five best friends who shared a love for writing and recording music. They signed to Tooth & Nail records, added new members and changed their sound from metal to punk. Their debut full length album is Who Speaks For Planet Earth.

6 House of Heroes hails from Columbus, Ohio and has four albums out, the latest being The End which is not The End which features their hit song In the Valley of the Dying Sun. They are currently touring through several summer festivals, including Freedom Fest at Cliff's Amusement Park, and recently released a new EP that pays tribute to the Beatles. The new EP features three cover songs including Can't Buy Me Love, It Won't Be Long, and Ob-La-Di, Ob-La-Da.

7 Pillar announced they have a new album called Confessions releasing on September 22nd, and according to them it is their "best one yet." The band will be playing songs from the new release on the "Confessions Tour" with Fireflight and Me In Motion.

8 Thousand Foot Krutch has been working on two projects. The first is their new record Welcome To The Masquerade, and the second a compilation of their albums; Phenomenon, The Art Of Breaking and The Flame In All Of Us, called Déjà vu: The Thousand Foot Krutch Anthology. Both albums released on September 8th.

Using the Internet as a Resource when Witnessing for Christ

When many people, including Christians, think of Islam, we think of terrorism. This is unfortunate since the vast majority of Muslims are well intentioned people who are earnestly seeking God. However, without Christ, they are bound for Hell. Islam believes that Jesus Christ was just a great prophet. They do not acknowledge Him as God the Son. That is why, as Christians, when we think of Islam we should see a mission field of lost souls who desperately need to hear the Gospel of Jesus Christ before it's too late.

We are very fortunate as Christians to have a vast resource for Bible study and Christian apologetics on the internet. Following are a few of my favorite web sites.

We are very fortunate as Christians to have a vast resource for Bible study and Christian apologetics on the internet.

GO TO:

gotquestions.org: This site has an easy-to-use search engine enabling you to find the answers to almost any question about the Bible. It provides the answers to many of these questions in 104 languages, including languages spoken in Islamic countries such as Arabic and Turkish.

blueletterbible.org: This web site has a vast amount of Bible study and apologetic resources.

answering-islam.org: This site contains a wealth of information on Islam from a Christian perspective. Many articles are available in multiple languages.

carm.org: The Christian Apologetics and Research Ministry site is another wonderful resource for witnessing to people from many different cults and religions.

Many more apologetics web sites can be found by using a search engine such as google.com and searching terms such as "Christian Apologetics Islam." When finding resources by using a search engine, you must be sure that the sites you find contain solid biblical teaching.

Second Corinthians 4:7 says, "But we have this treasure in jars of clay to show that this all-surpassing power is from God and not from us." Pastor Pancho Juarez can certainly testify to the truth of that verse. One of the greatest ways God demonstrates His power is through His use of cracked pots; imperfect and flawed people, of which he is a prime example.

by: Yo Snyder

Pancho Juarez

There was a time when no one would have suspected that one day Pancho Juarez would be the senior pastor of a thriving Christian ministry. After his dishonorable discharge from the Marine Corps and his service in the Vietnam War, Pancho returned to the US to, as he puts it, "make up for the years I missed." This entailed a life filled with alcohol and drug abuse, a life that rapidly deteriorated as he struggled with emotional and mental issues as well as his addictions. The seeming final blow of abandonment and rejection was when his girlfriend dumped him for another man, a man named Jesus Christ.

A year later, the same woman, his former girlfriend, invited Pancho to a rock concert in a place he never expected to find that kind of music, a church called Calvary Chapel Costa Mesa. That night in 1975 proved to be the turning point in Pancho's life as he was touched by all he heard and saw, and also gave his life to the man named Jesus.

Pancho matured quickly in Christ, overcame his inability to read, married his girlfriend and eventually found himself studying under Pastor Raul Ries. In 1989, Pancho felt a calling to return to his high school hometown of Montebello, California, to begin a ministry of his own. The small home fellowship he started has blossomed into a thriving church community serving over 3000 adults and over 1000 kids on a weekly basis. Pastor Pancho ministers to many more through his daily radio ministry called On The Level. No matter how cracked of a pot you may be, no matter how imperfect or flawed, God wants to use you for his glory in amazing ways that you've probably never even imagined. Pastor Pancho Juarez would surely tell you that's exactly the way God likes to work.

Wake Up | & | Watch Out

By Chip Lusko

In April of 1979, the Ayatollah Khomeini stepped on the tarmac of the Tehran airport. He was returning from exile in Iran, and his arrival signaled the start of a modern Islamic revolution. No one could have predicted that this event would eventually ripple across the world and result in bombings, killings and violent Jihad. High hopes swept the Muslim world as Sharia law was enforced by the Iranian High Council.

History now records the cataclysmic changes that radical Islam delivered to the doorstep of the west from London to Madrid to New York. A sort of global shock set in as the psychology became clear. How do you combat an enemy who considers his death to be a victory? What defense is there against such attacks? Welcome to our world, the Israelis must have thought. Jewish victims of homicide bombers have been mounting since the Second Intifada, masterminded by Yassar Arafat in 2000, the very same Arafat who in 1994 received the Nobel Peace Prize.

There are many misconceptions and misunderstandings concerning the Muslim world and the Islamic faith. Learning by experience is class room.

Radical Islam will not recede.

Just ask the inhabitants of Constantinople. The West needs to be fully informed by the challenges of a 1.3-billion-member Muslim world. By far, the majority are moderate or at least less than radical. But 10% of a billion-plus people is a significant enemy.

Here are some resources that will bring you up to speed and give you a sober appraisal of the times in which we live:

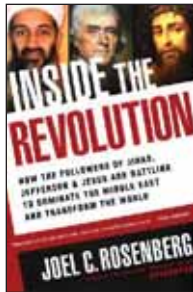

Inside the Revolution

by Joel C.

Rosenberg

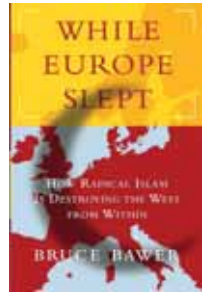

In his second non-fiction work, Rosenberg distills the Muslim world into three groups: The Radicals, The Reformers and

The Revivalists. The revival section is as thrilling as the radical section is chilling. Well researched and written, if you want a current book on Islam, this would be a good one.

While Europe Slept

by Bruce Bawer
Bawer discusses how radical Islam is destroying the West from within. In Great Britain, mosques are opening more rapidly than churches and that fact speaks volumes. In this secular book, Bawer reports on the failure of liberals to confront Islamic extremism in their own neighborhoods. The continent elite is intentionally turning a blind eye to what may amount to cultural suicide. It's a wake-up call that is not being widely heard.

The Crisis of Islam: Holy War and Unholy Terror

by Bernard Lewis

Bernard Lewis is a British-American historian, famous in academic circles for his writings on the Ottoman Empire. This perspective helps

Lewis inform his writings with the hard facts that surrender is not in the DNA of Islamic thinking. Retreat and regroup to fight another day, yes, but the Muslim worldview demands they trust in an oriental ultimate version of eminent domain. Lewis nails this philosophy and the download is not especially encouraging. FQ
